

A climbing frame with three towers. These towers are connected by a beams with grips and a horizontal climbing net, allowing children to move from one tower to the other. The larger tower includes two climbing nets along its sides and one on its top, a climbing wall with holes, trapeze and a set of gymnastics rings. The smaller tower contains two high bars, ladders, transparent climbing wall as well as nets on the top of the towers. Thanks to its design, which allows for a variety of climbing and gymnastics options, the climbing frame can be used simultaneously by a large number of children. Climbing develops children's sense of balance and strength.
